

Jewish Links of Interest

Here are some links that have valuable information on Judaism:

Aish HaTorah (an informative web site that reaches out to Jews where they are at): <http://aish.edu>

Lights in Action (especially for college students): <http://www.lia.org/>

Ohr Someach: (just plain informative) <http://www.ohr.org.il/>

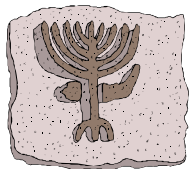

Image of an ancient menorah carving with a shofar. Jewish symbols when used for Jewish purposes.

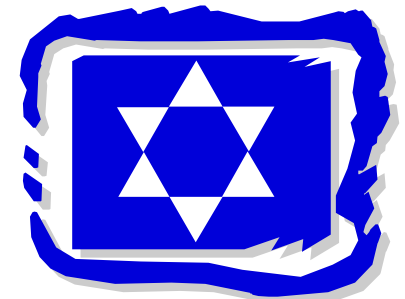

Jewish (non-messianic) organizations have permission to copy this as many times as needed and to replace Cleveland learning with local Jewish learning, or to add a link. Content of the brochure copyrighted by Shomrai HaBrit.

Shomrai HaBrit — Keepers of the Covenant
Dedicated to keeping Jews Jewish.

Shomrai HaBrit —
Keepers of the Covenant

Let your Heritage Spark your Spirit

A church is not a synagogue

Web site: <http://www.geocities.com/keepcovenant>

Let your Heritage Spark your Spirit!

"The Torah is a tree of life to all who hold it, its path is pleasant its ways are peace"

You have inherited a wonderfully rich tradition. There is much in Judaism that is spiritual, from the delight that is the Shabbat table to the dancing on Simchat Torah.

Learn about your heritage and take a journey that will spark your spirit. Inside every Jew there is a little tiny spark waiting to be ignited. If we do not have it, we quest for spirituality, we crave a connection to something beyond us, bigger than us. This is why so many Jews who grew up unaffiliated or with minimal affiliation end up easy targets for cults or deceptive missionary organizations, including churches that claim to be synagogues and aim to get Jews to be Christians without their realizing it. But what your spirit yearns for is and always was in Judaism.

Judaism, your eternal heritage, is yours for the taking. So, experience a real Shabbat, complete with singing. Experience the joyous dancing and singing on Simchat Torah. Experience the loving Jewish community available to you. This is a community so full of love for fellow Jews that inviting a person who is pretty much a total stranger (except for the fact that he or she is a fellow Jew) is not unusual.

Judaism has a loving G-d, a G-d who loves us so much He gave us an eternal covenant that He has never broken nor changed, a G-d so loving that He insured the survival of the Jewish people despite all odds to this very day. A G-d so loving that it is written of Him in the Psalms of our own King David "Praise the L-RD, all you nations, extol Him, all you peoples, for great is His steadfast love towards us; the faithfulness of the L-RD endures forever. Hallelujah.

"Praise the L-RD, for He is good, His steadfast love is eternal. Let Israel declare, 'His steadfast love is eternal' Let the house of Aaron declare, 'His steadfast love is eternal' Let those who fear the L-RD declare, 'His steadfast love is eternal.'" (Psalm 117 & 118:1-4, New JPS translation)

Challah is food for the body, Torah and Judaism food for the soul

So, get in touch with your spirit, get in touch with G-d, learn about the richness of the Judaism that is your heritage. It is more than you ever thought :-)

Cleveland area learning opportunities:

Aish HaTorah: (216) 321-7277

Cleveland College of Jewish Studies:
(216) 464-4050

Shomrai HaBrit — Keepers of the Covenant

Dedicated to keeping Jews Jewish.

Web site: <http://www.geocities.com/keepcovenant/>
Email: shomrai@earthlink.net